On February 16th, we visited Hoganekkal, a place I had been looking forward to. Unfortunately, the river was overcrowded, and I felt disappointed that I couldn't go there. While Appa and Thambi went to bathe in the falls, and Amma went to buy fish, I remained in the parking lot, feeling the warmth of the sunlight. It made me sad to be left out. However, before we headed back home, Appa and Amma found a spot for me to access the river, and finally, I was able to enjoy the water. It brought a smile to my face and lifted my spirits.

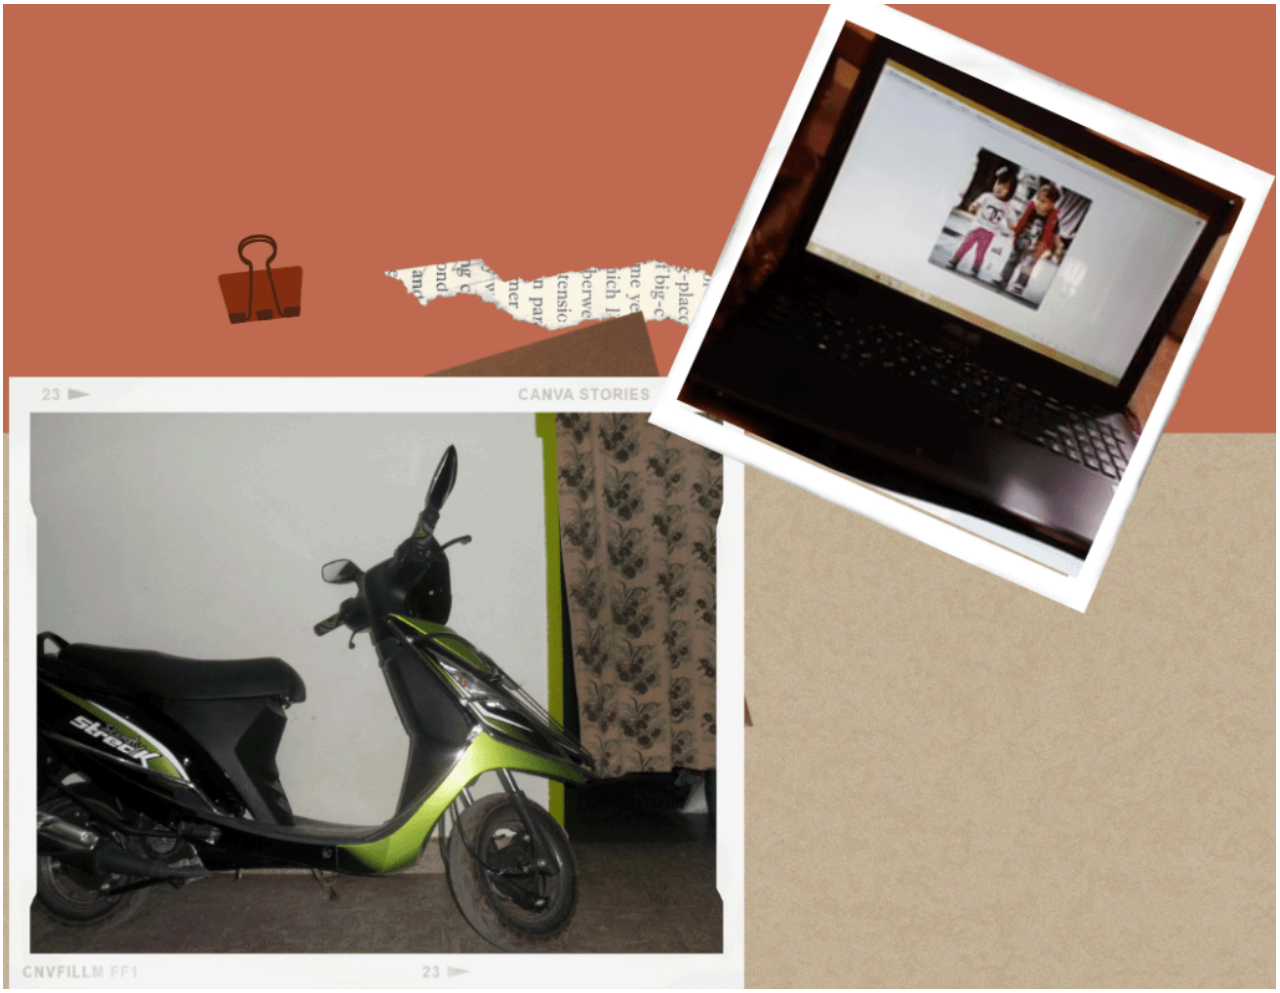
On February 9th, after a long time, Appa took Thambi and me on an evening ride. It was a joyful outing for us. Additionally, we had the pleasure of eating pani puri, which added to the fun and excitement of the day.

On February 20th, we bought a new scooter for Amma. It was a vibrant parrot green color, adding a splash of freshness and excitement to our transportation.💚

I acquired my initial pre-owned laptop, holding sentimental value for me, where I stored personal belongings like songs and important files. Zenith, symbolizing elevation💻.



On February 21st, Appa rode the scooter to school and returned home on the new scooty, feeling a great sense of joy and satisfaction.😁

I always love visiting my appa and amma's hometown. It's a special place for me where we indulge in delicious treats like ice apple (nongu), cashew fruit (mundiri pazham), refreshing sarbath, and savor mouthwatering crab and fish. Additionally, we get to swim in the serene lake, making it one of my favorite spots.🤩
